

Purpose of Financial Counseling

I understand that it will not be the responsibility of the counselor to fix the problem for me but rather to provide guidance and education to empower me in securing my own financial future.

I understand that the purpose of financial counseling program is to provide one-on-one counseling to give you the client the education and support your need to be financially stable. The counselor will analyze my financial and credit situation, identify those barriers preventing me from attaining financial stability, and develop a plan to remove those barriers.

I understand that it is my responsibility to work in conjunction with the counseling process and that failure to cooperate may result in the discontinuation of my counseling program. This includes but is not limited to missing three consecutive appointments.
